

Video Production Assistant

Location: Soho, London

Role: Video Production Assistant

Hours: Full Time

Level/Experience: Junior, with experience as a runner or production assistant.

Job Description

We're looking for a talented and flexible graduate with a good knowledge and passion for video production. Having studied an appropriate degree they should display creative flair and commitment to producing great video content.

Working closely with our Head of Video, the successful candidate will gain experience across all areas of video production, including camera and sound operating, editing and motion graphics and all areas of pre-production. The assistant role will also be expected to perform day-to-day running duties in both office and shoot environments.

An understanding of social media and an eye for design would be advantageous, allowing the candidate to help out in other areas of the agency when required.

Based in central London, you will be joining an exciting, dynamic digital agency with a growing team of creatives, designers, video editors and producers, working in a relaxed and professional environment on a range of interesting and challenging projects.

The ideal candidate will be hungry to gain experience and be a quick learner. They will be able to deliver under pressure and to tight deadlines and will be naturally collaborative and organised.

Skills

Essential

- A good eye for composition and appreciation of storytelling both through the lens and in the edit suite.
- Highly self motivated and pro-active.
- Highly computer literate and able to pick up new software packages quickly and easily.
- Experienced working in production offices / on location at a runner or assistant level.
- An interest in and a desire to keep abreast of the latest and greatest of both the creative and technological aspects of the video industry.
- Good organisational and planning skills.
- Good command of English language

Advantageous

- Knowledge and experience of working with design and video software packages such as Final Cut Studio, Adobe Creative Suite (After Effects / Photoshop)
- A background in animation and motion graphics.
- An experienced video editor
- An experienced Camera Operator / Sound Recordist
- An understanding of the latest social media developments.
- Design experience.